WOMEN'S SUPPORT GROUP

Build your support network.

Decrease isolation & loneliness.

Feel better about yourself and where you are in life.

Learn, share, grow! For many of us, our fast paced world makes it increasingly hard to slow down and connect with others, leaving us feeling lonely and isolated. This new bi-weekly support group is designed for women of any age who would like to grow their support network, feel more connected and feel better about themselves and where they are in life.

Lisa Reichstein, LICSW, is a licensed clinical social worker, with a private practice on the East Side of Providence. Her specialty is helping singles and women in relationships improve their self-esteem and break free of negative patterns, stuck places and deal with life transitions.
